on Lancaster-Circleville road,
three miles east of Circleville.

The accident occurred when he lost control of the heavy machine, which was going about 45 miles an hour after the left rear tire blew out. The auto turned over com-

Fair Swimmer, Without Suit, Leads Huntington Policemen on Long Chase

Mermaid Defies Conventions and Heat In Cool Waters of Ohio River.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Aug.
22.—Leaving what police termed a wild party, Margaret Johnson, 20-year-old pretty brunette, strolled to the Ohio river bank in search of relief from the sultry heat of dog days and "corn" liquor.

Once on the shore of the beautiful Ohio, the ripples beckoned and Margaret slipped from her clothes and went swimming, sans suit.

Meanwhile, telephone bells at police headquarters started ringing. "There's a girl in swimming here without a bathing suit," complained a woman's voice, "and there's a crowd gathering."

Three husky patrolmen sped to the scene, commanded a row boat and rowed hastily to where Margaret was disporting herself.

Ensued a dialogue with policemen, commanding Margaret "to come here" and Margaret during the "law" to "come and get me."
Frantically the policemen rowed to where Margaret had been a moment before. Then Margaret became just a flash of white skin and sleek black hair. She dived sea-fashion out of the officers' reach every time they neared her.

Once Margaret hid for 10 minutes beneath the boat's prow while husky officers sat baffled and wondered if the pretty young girl had drowned.

The chase lasted an hour. The unadvertised event threatened to attract a larger crowd than the heralded Chris Green-Betsy Ann steamboat race.

It was an endurance contest with the cops puffing and blowing and a mermaid luring them on.

Finally when the policemen were about to seek reinforcements, the said combination of "corn" liquor and exertion proved too much for Margaret and she was hauled into John-boat and ferried back to her clothing.

"Why didn't you over turn the boat," someone asked as she was booked on a charge of intoxication at headquarters.

"Gee, I wish I had thought of that," she grinned.

FEEDERS WILL HAVE MEETING

Economical and Profitable
Beef Production Will Be Discussed Friday.

Pickaway-co steer feeders will hold a feeding school at the Farm Bureau office in Circleville, Friday evening Aug. 23, at 8 p. m.

Feeder feeders throughout the county are invited to attend this meeting. L. P. McGinn, beef cat-

and G. C. McElroy, a cattle feeder of Irwin, O. will assist County

gram.

Types of cattle, length of feed-

during early stage of feeding period and finishing weights, which contribute to most economic beef
production, will be the chief topics
of discussion Friday evening.

This meeting is the first of a series of steer feeding schools which will be held throughout the winter and spring as a means of increasing
the income through efficient feeding and marketing of beef cattle.

Pickaway-co farmers receive approximately 10 per cent of their income from beef cattle.

TRAFFIC CODE BEING DRAWN BY CITY DADS

Hearings Will Be Conducted
To Create Efficient System of Control.

A tentative ordinance, creating
a traffic code, amending all other traffic ordinances and intending to regulate all traffic on the streets
of Circleville was introduced into council Wednesday night, when it
was given its first reading.

The ordinance, then referred to a committee of the whole with Coun-cillman Leist as chairman, will be subjected to extensive hearings in order to insure its completeness
before its enactment. Among other things it will establish speed limits in conformity with the new state law; designate parking and
non-parking areas; provide for
turns; designate through streets,
and stipulate where traffic lights
shall be located. Adequate penalties are planned to give teeth to
the new law and its enforcement
will be demanded, councilmen declare.

ORDER BOND ISSUE.

Under a suspension of the rules,
an ordinance providing for the issue of $7,500 worth of bonds for
the construction of a sanitary sewer on Washington, Logan and Town-sts. was passed. By same procedure, an ordinance allowing
the Pennsylvania railroad to construct a switch track across Ohio-
st. from the freight depot to the
S. C. Grant property was passed.

An ordinance increasing the salary of Fred Nicholas, clerk of council, to $800 yearly, was introduced and read for the first time.
A resolution awarding the Davies-
Bertram Co., of Cincinnati, the bond issue of $13,000 for the new fire truck, the bonds carrying an interest rate of 5 1/2 per cent, was adopted. Council also adopted a resolution providing for the employment by the city solicitor of
assistant counsel in obtaining a construction of the will of the late
Frank P. Berger.

Arrival Of Air Tourists Here Is Delayed By Thunder Storm

Eleven Planes Are Forced To Land Near Chillicothe By Weather.

LETTERS ARE DROPPED
Messages To Mayor Thrown
Overboard As Two Ships
Pass Over City.

Two hours behind their scheduled arrival at Circleville, the flagship "Sohioan" and 10 other planes
in the Good Will Air tour passed
over this city at 11:50 a. m.
Thursday on their way to Columbus from Chillicothe where they were forced down by an electrical storm.

Eleven planes remaining in the tour started from Portsmouth
early Thursday morning, but ran into a severe storm before Chillicothe was reached.

One plane returned to Portsmouth, two made successful dashes for Columbus and the others
made forced landings from which they were able to fly on to Columbus after the storm had passed.
The planes passed over Lancaster
because of the storm and will re-
organize the tour at Norton field
for the resumption of their trip Friday.

11 LAND AT CHILICOTHE

Ten of the planes, including the flagship, were forced down on the James Vause farm seven miles southeast of Chillicothe and the 11th landed a mile east of that city.

At 11:50 a. m. the flagship passed
over Circleville and packet
containing greetings to Mayor B.
T. Hedges was dropped by John
M. Vorys, director of the Ohio department of aeronautics. The packet, with red, white and blue
streamers attached, dropped on the kitchen roof of Mrs. J. C. Rader, 119 S. Washington-st, who sent it
by Mack Farrett Jr., to Mayor Hedges. The letter it contained is as follows:

LETTER TO MAYOR

"Mayor B. T. Hedges,
Circleville, Ohio.

"As this tour passes over your city, I am inspecting from the air
your air-markings, and facilities for aircraft. Many leaders in the aeronautic industry are also on this tour, inspecting from the air
the commercial possibilities for
aviation of your community.

"Congratulations and best wishes to you in all of your efforts to achieve a position as a third dimension city whose people are looking up.

"I shall report the result of my inspection later to you.

"I bring you cordial personal greetings from Governor Myers J.
Cooper and from the members of the Good Will Air Tour.

"Yours very truly,
John M. Vorys.

"Please give my best wishes to
my former colleague, Senator C.
C. Chapman."

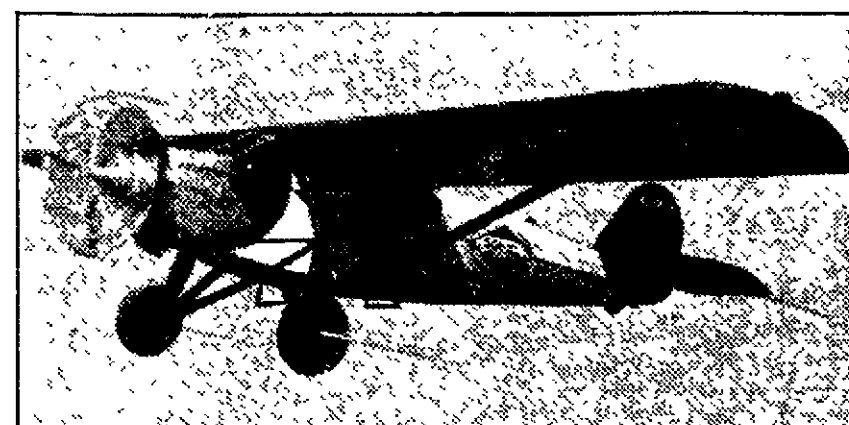

LETTERS FROM CITY

An envelope containing letters
of greeting of the city of Cuyahoga
Falls to Mayor Hedges. The Circleville Chamber of Commerce
and the Rotary club was dropped
from the plane, "City of Cuyahoga Falls" by Pilot "Curley"
Lovejoy. The envelope was found on the N. and W. railroad tracks
between Main and Mound-sts by Lee Caudle, track watchman, and Harry Riggins produce dealer.

SCHWARTZ BOND IS DECLARED FORFEIT

The final chapter in the closing
by Pickaway-co authorities of the Southern club, gambling casino on Bulwer-rd near the Franklin-co line
last spring, was probably written Wednesday when the $500 bond of William Schwartz, alleged proprietor, was declared forfeit by Judge J. W. Adkins in common pleas court.

Schwartz bond was forfeited
when he failed for the third time
to appear for hearing on an indictment charging him with possessing gambling apparatus. He was represented by Attorney I. F.
Snyder. The club has been closed
since it was investigated by a special grand jury and those against whom indictments were returned, with the exception of Schwartz, disappeared.

This monoplane is a Ryan brougham, "The Sohioan," flagship
of the Ohio Air Trade Tour, which passed over Circleville late Thursday morning. From this airplane, a greeting to Mayor B.
T. Hedges was dropped by John M. Vorys, director of aeronautics in Ohio. Other occupants of the craft, the entry of the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, were Lloyd D. Bower, of the Ohio
Chamber of Commerce aviation committee; Robert McFarland,
of the Standard Oil Co. and Dewey L. Noyes, pilot.

GRAF FLIGHT IS POSTPONED

Eckener To Delay Start
From Japan.

KASUMIGAUZA AIR FIELD,
Jap, Aug. 23.—(Friday)—The departure of the German Graf Zepp-
pell on the third leg of its round-
the-world flight was definitely
postponed because of unfavorable
weather, by Dr. Eckener tonight, 30 minutes before the time scheduled for the start.

"The weather in the vicinity of the air-field at 9:30 p. m. (8:30 a.
m. Eastern daylight time) was very adverse. There were heavy clouds; a slight rain was falling,
and there was a light wind blowing across the field.

Lightning and thunderstorms
were reported in the area just north of Kasumigaura.

Weather carts indicated that the storm approaching along the Hok-kaido coast had the proportions of a young typhoon.

Despite increasing storminess of
the weather during the evening
a big crowd gathered at the air
field in the belief that Dr. Eckener
would take off and attempt to evade the worst of the storm area
when he got aloft.

There was a vast field of glistening umbrellas upon which searchlights played with scintillat-
ing effects.

The sky was dark with low hanging rain and wind clouds. A light wind swept the field with a promise of harsher winds to follow.

With more than three score of
human lives in his keeping, Dr.
Eckener did not want to take any chances.

When the news was given out
that the departure was postponed
the crowd began slowly dispersing.

COSTE AWAITS GOOD WEATHER

Flight Which Took Lives
of Swiss Boys.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Undaunted by the latest trans-Atlantic flying tragedy which apparently has claimed
the lives of the Swiss boy aviator
Oscar Kaeser and Kurt Luescher,
Captain Dieudonne Coste, France's
premier living aviator, was at Le Bourget field today, awaiting the weather man's "go" for a new attempt to span the ocean from east to west by air.

Coste will be accompanied by Maurice Bellonte, the navigator,
and mechanic who was with him
on the recent unsuccessful attempt
to fly the Atlantic when the airmen were forced by storms to turn back after reaching the Azores.

According to present indications, the start will be made early tomorrow or Saturday morning.

The flight will be made in the same red Breguet-Hispano plane
"Questin Mark" which carried the
aviators 1,000 miles out over the Atlantic on their last attempt.

Columbus Firm Gets Road Job

A. W. Burns Construction
Co., of Columbus, was low bidder to pave with brick I. C. H.
5, Section U, from south of Circleville to the Rose-co line
it was announced Thursday.
The bid was $291,986.39.

Work will be started as soon
as possible. The contract
stipulates the work must be started at once. Announcement of the contract award was delayed two days after
the expected publication of the successful bidder by the state highway department.

COUNTRY CLUB HAS CATERERS

Mr. and Mrs. Ananias Morris
Will Reside In House
There.

The Pickaway Country Club has
been fortunate in procuring Mr.
and Mrs. Ananias Morris to live
at the club house, and to manage the dining room there. Mrs. Morris comes to the Circleville club
after four years' steady service
at the Maramor, one of the outstanding restaurants in the city of Columbus.

She is not only well recommended, but many members of the
club know from their experience
at the Maramor that she is the best available. She has had all the experience that is necessary, and gave up her place in Columbus
because she recognized the opportunity that will grow out of the local club. Mr. Morris also has given up his position to fill the need of a caretaker and manager
at the house.

Golfers in Columbus and even smaller towns are beginning to become acquainted with the local
course. It won't be long before hundreds will be driving here on Sundays and holidays to play golf.
They are learning that the course
is not crowded and it is gaining
a fine reputation in the state.

To accommodate these visitors,
the club must have some place for them to eat if they are to spend the day here. Green fees
and meals for strangers are two important factors in a successful
country club. With Mrs. Morris
in charge, from now on, the club
will have a fine start toward establishing a reputation for the next season.

Mr. Morris will look after the serving of cold drinks at the counter. The couple will arrive Monday, Aug. 26, to take up their duties. Orders will be taken at once for lunches and dinners on Labor Day, and meals and sandwiches will be prepared there all week.

Cattle Killed By Bolt On C. A.
Weldon Farm Near New Holland.

Electrical storms, which were general throughout Ohio, caused damage in Circleville and in and near Pickaway-co Thursday morning.

Lightning at 10 a. m. Thursday struck one of the large ricks of
baled straw at the Mid-West Box
Co., and late Thursday afternoon
the resulting fire was still being fought.

There were more than 400 tons
of straw in the rick, one of 15
which contain a total of approximately 12,000 of straw, worth
about $96,000.

LOSS IS $3000.

Fortunately the lightning struck a corner of the main northern rick. If one of the center
ricks had been hit by the bolt the entire storage of straw would have been endangered.

Plant employees ran a line of
hose to the blaze within two minutes after the bolt struck and they were joined in a few minutes by
the city fire department which ran four lines of hose to the fire. A downpour of rain aided in keeping the fire from spreading.

The blaze was brought under control after an hour and half of intensive work. The fire had smoldering and infiltrating into
the mammoth rick so that it was necessary to keep a force of fire fighters on the job Thursday afternoon. The loss is estimated at $3000 by A. C. Moore, manager of the plant.

CATTLE KILLED
Lightning struck and killed
eight head of cattle on the farm
of C. A. Weldon near New Holland
Thursday morning. Earl Weldon resides on the farm. The cattle were valued at $600.

A large barn and shed on the McKenzie estate farm seven miles northwest of Chillicothe were destroyed by fire Thursday morning after the barn had been struck by lightning. Neighbors aided in saving farm implements from the
flames but the Chillicothe fire department was called to keep the fire from spreading to the dwelling.

COMMITTEES WORK IS TOLD

Their Groups Do For Civic Welfare.

The meeting of the Rotary Club
Thursday noon was turned into a round table discussion for the
chairmen and sub-chairmen of the different committees to tell of their activities planned for the coming year.

Clark Will, chairman of the membership committee, told how
it functions and what this particular committee has done and has
to do.

George Foreman, chairman of
the vocational service committee,
explained the workings of this committee, while Lawrence Gooller explained the work of the employment relations committee.
The buying and selling committee,
with H. G. Stevenson as chairman, and competitor relations and association activities with Harry
B. Colwell, as chairman, were explained by these members.

Thomas O. Gilliland, who is chairman of the community service and boys' work, with sub-
committees including crippled
children, boys' work and athletics,
with Fred C. Clark, Frank Barn-
hill and Loring Lutz as chairmen.
The crippled children work was explained by Fred Clark, and this committee has done much to help
the unfortunate cripples in Pick-
away-co.

Thomas Gilliland gave a thorough explanation of the work that committees can do and suggested that the Rotary Club should sponsor activities that will greatly
help the community, such as public athletic park and landing field,
boys' club, full time city and county health officer, treating the
city streets with tarvia, and more interest in the Logan Elm Park.
President Terwilliger read a letter from the Cuyahoga Falls Rotary Club, which was dropped from one of the Good Will Aeroplanes which passed over the city
at noon.

hold a feeding school at the Farm Bureau office in Circleville, Fri-
day evening, Aug. 23, at 8 p. m.

Feeder feeders throughout the
county are invited to attend this meeting. L. P. McCann, beef cattle specialist Ohio State university
and G. C. McElroy, a cattle feeder and Agent H. S. Lewis with the program.

Types of cattle, length of feeding period, methods of handling during early stage of feeding period and finishing weights, which contribute to most economic beef
production, will be the chief topics of discussion Friday evening. This meeting is the first of a series of steer feeding schools which will be
held throughout the winter and
spring as a means of increasing
the income through efficient feeding and marketing of beef cattle.

Pickaway-co farmers receive approximately 10 per cent of their income from beef cattle.

Hearings Will Be Conducted
To Create Efficient System of Control.

A tentative ordinance, creating
traffic ordinances and intending to
regulate all traffic on the streets
of Circleville was introduced into
council Wednesday night, when it
was given its first reading.

The ordinance, then referred to a
committee of the whole with Councilman Leist as chairman, will be subjected to extensive hearings in
order to insure its completeness
before its enactment. Among
limits in conformity with the new
state law; designate parking and
non-parking areas; provide for
turns; designate through streets,
and stipulate where traffic lights
shall be located. Adequate penalties are planned to give teeth to
the new law and its enforcement
will be demanded, councilmen declare.

ORDER BOND ISSUE.

Under a suspension of the rules,
an ordinance providing for the is-
the construction of a sanitary
sewer on Washington, Logan and Town-sts was passed. By same
procedure, an ordinance allowing
the Pennsylvania railroad to construct a switch track across Ohio-
st, from the freight depot to the
S. C. Grant property was passed.

An ordinance increasing the salary of Fred Nicholas, clerk of council, to $360 yearly was introduced and read for the first time.
A resolution awarding the Davies-
Bertram Co., of Cincinnati, the
bond issue of $13,000 for the new
fire truck, the bonds carrying an
adopted. Council also adopted a resolution providing for the employment by the city solicitor of
assistant counsel in obtaining a
Frank P. Berger.

Arrival Of Air Tourists Here Is Delayed By Thunder Storm

Weather.

LETTERS ARE DROPPED
Overboard As Two Ships
Pass Over City.

Two hours behind their scheduled arrival at Circleville, the flag-
ship "Sohioan" and 10 other planes
in the Good Will Air tour passed
over this city at 11:50 a. m.
Thursday on their way to Columbus from Chillicothe where they were forced down by an electrical
storm.

Eighteen planes remaining in the tour started from Portsmouth
early Thursday morning, but ran into a severe storm before Chillicothe was reached.

One plane returned to Portsmouth, two made successful dashes for Columbus and the others
made forced landings from which
they were able to fly on to Columbus after the storm had passed.
The planes passed over Lancaster
because of the storm and will re-
organize the tour at Norton field
for the resumption of their trip

11 LAND AT CHILICOTHE

Ten of the planes, including the Flagship, were forced down on the James Vause farm seven miles
southeast of Chillicothe and the
city.

At 11:50 a. m. the flagship passed
over Circleville and packet
containing greetings to Mayor B.
T. Hedges was dropped by John
M. Vorys, director of the Ohio department of aeronautics. The
packet, with red, white and blue
streamers attached, dropped on the
kitchen roof of Mrs. J. C. Rader,
119 S. Washington-st, who sent it
by Mack Parrett Jr., to Mayor Hedges. The letter it contained is
as follows:

LETTER TO MAYOR

"Mayor B. T. Hedges,
Circleville, Ohio.
"As this tour passes over your
city, I am inspecting from the air
for aircraft. Many leaders in the aeronautics industry are also on
this tour, inspecting from the air
the commercial possibilities for
aviation of your community.

"Congratulations and best wishes to you in all of your efforts to achieve a position as a third di-
looking up.

"I shall report the result of my
inspection later to you.

greetings from Governor Myers Y.
Cooper and from the members of
the Good Will Air Tour.

"Yours very truly,

John M. Vorys.

"Please give my best wishes to
my former colleague, Senator C.
C. Chappeler."

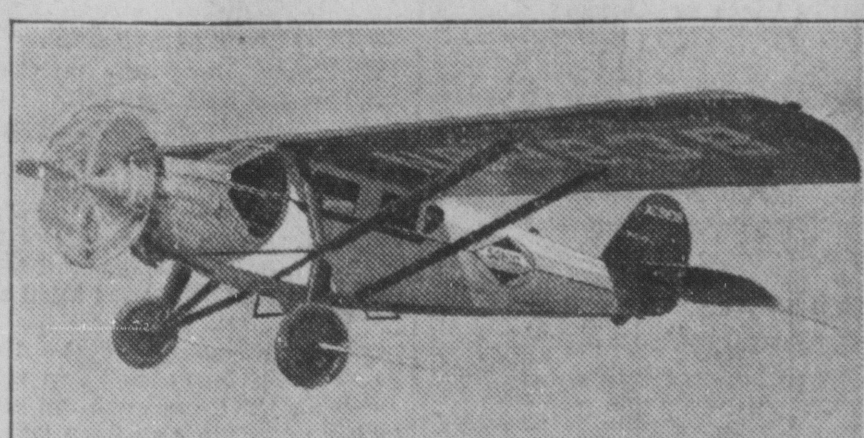

LETTERS FROM CITY

An envelope containing letters
Circleville Chamber of Commerce
and the Rotary club was dropped
Falls" by Pilot "Curley"
Lovejoy. The envelope was found on the N. and W. railroad tracks
between Main and Mound-sts by Lee Caudle, track watchman, and Harry Riggan, produce dealer.

SCHWARTZ BOND IS DECLARED FORFEIT

The final chapter in the closing
by Pickaway-co authorities of the Southern club, gambling casino on Bullen-rd near the Franklin-co line
last spring, was probably written
Wednesday when the $500 bond of William Schwartz, alleged proprietor, was declared forfeit by Judge J. W. Adkins in common
pleas court.

Schwartz bond was forfeited
when he failed for the third time
to appear for hearing on an indignity charging him with possessing gambling apparatus. He was represented by Attorney I. F.
Snyder. The club has been closed
since it was investigated by a
special grand jury and those
returned, with the exception of Schwartz, disappeared.

This monoplane is a Ryan brougham, "The Sohioan," flagship
of the Ohio Air Trade Tour, which passed over Circleville late Thursday morning. From this airplane, a greeting to Mayor B.
T. Hedges was dropped by John M. Vorys, director of aeronau-
Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, were Lloyd D. Bower, of the Ohio
Chamber of Commerce aviation committee; Robert McFarland,
of the Standard Oil Co. and Dewey L. Noyes, pilot.

From Japan.

KASUMIGAUZA AIR FIELD,
Jap, Aug. 23.—(Friday)—The departure of the German Graf Zep-
pell on the third leg of its round-
postponed because of unfavorable
weather, by Dr. Eckener tonight,
30 minutes before the time scheduled for the start.

the air-field at 9:30 p. m. (8:30 a.
m. Eastern daylight time) was very adverse. There were heavy
clouds; a slight rain was falling,
and there was a light wind blowing across the field.

Lightning and thunderstorms
were reported in the area just north of Kasumigauza.

Weather carts indicated that the
storm approaching along the Hok-kaido coast had the proportions of
a young typhoon.

Despite increasing storminess of
the weather during the evening
a big crowd gathered at the air
field in the belief that Dr. Eckener
would take off and attempt to evade the worst of the storm area
when he got aloft.

There was a vast field of glistening umbrellas upon which searchlights played with scintillat-
ing effects.

The sky was dark with low
light wind swept the field with a
promise of harsher winds to follow.

With more than three score of
human lives in his keeping Dr.
chances.

When the news was given out
that the departure was postponed

Flight Which Took Lives
of Swiss Boys.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Undaunted by
te latest trans-Atlantic flying tragedy which apparently has claimed
Oscar Kaeser and Kurt Luescher,
Captain Dieudonne Coste, France's
premier living arman was at Le Bourget field today, awaiting the
weather man's "go" for a new attempt to span the ocean from
east to west by air.

Coste will be accompanied by Maurice Bellonte, the navigator
and mechanic who was with him
on the recent unsuccessful attempt
to fly the Atlantic, when the air-
men were forced by storms to
Azores.

According to present indications, the start will be made early tomorrow or Saturday morning.

The flight will be made in the same red Breguet-Hispano plane
"Questin Mark" which carried the
aviators 1,000 miles out over the Atlantic on their last attempt.

Cattle Killed By Bolt On C. A.
Weldon Farm Near New Holland.

Electrical storms, which were
general throughout Ohio, caused
damage in Circleville and in and
near Pickaway-co Thursday morning.

Lightning at 10 a. m. Thursday
struck one of the large ricks of
baled straw at the Mid-West Box
Co., and late Thursday afternoon
the resulting fire was still being
fought.

There were more than 400 tons
of straw in the rick, one of 18
which contain a total of approxi-

Fortunately the lightning struck a corner of the most northern rick. If one of the center
ricks had been hit by the bolt the
entire storage of straw would have
been endangered.

hose to the blaze within two minutes after the bolt struck and they
were joined in a few minutes by
downpour of rain aided in keeping the fire from spreading.

intensive work. The fire kept smoldering and infiltrating into
necessary to keep a force of fire
fighters on the job Thursday afternoon. The loss is estimated at $3000 by A. C. Moore, manager of the plant.

CATTLE KILLED

Lightning struck and killed
of C. A. Weldon near New Holland
Thursday morning. Earl Vincent
resides on the farm. The cattle
were valued at $680.

A large barn and shed on the McKenzie estate farm seven miles northwest of Chillicothe were destroyed by fire Thursday morning after the barn had been struck
by lightning. Neighbors aided in
flames but the Chillicothe fire department was called to keep the
fire from spreading to the dwelling.

Welfare.

The meeting of the Rotary Club
Thursday noon was turned into a
round table discussion for the
chairmen and sub-chairmen of the
different committees to tell of
their activities planned for the coming year.

Clark Will, chairman of the membership committee, told how
it functions and what this particular committee has done and has
to do.

George Foreman, chairman of
the vocational service committee,
explained the workings of this committee, while Lawrence Goel-
ler explained the work of the employment relations committee.
The buying and selling committee,
with H. G. Stevenson as chair-
man, and competitor relations and association activities with Harley
B. Colwell, as chairman, were explained by these members.

chairman of the community service and boys' work, with sub-
committees including crippled
children, boys' work and athletics,
with Fred C. Clark, Frank Barn-
hill and Loring Lutz as chairmen.
The crippled children work was
committee has done much to help
the unfortunate cripples in Pick-
away-co.

Thomas Gilliland gave a thorough explanation of the work that
committees can do and suggested
that the Rotary Club should sponsor activities that will greatly
help the community, such as public athletic park and landing field,
boys' calf club, full time city and county health officer, treating the
city streets with tarvia, and more
interest in the Logan Elm Park.

President Terwilliger read a letter from the Cuyahoga Falls Rotary Club, which was dropped
from one of the Good Will Aero-
planes which passed over the city
at noon.

Columbus Firm Gets Road Job

A. W. Burns Construction
Co., of Columbus, was low bidder to pave with brick I. C. H.
5, Section U, from south of Circleville to the Ross-co line
it was announced Thursday.
The bid was $291,986.39.

Work will be started as soon
stipulates the work must be started at once. Announcement of the contract award
was delayed two days after
the expected publication of the
successful bidder by the state
highway department.

Mr. and Mrs. Ananias Morris
Will Reside In House

The Pickaway Country Club has
been fortunate in procuring Mr.
and Mrs. Ananias Morris to live
at the club house, and to manage
the dining room there. Mrs. Morris comes to the Circleville club
after four years' steady service
at the Maramor, one of the outstanding restaurants in the city
of Columbus.

She is not only well recommended, but many members of the
club know from their experience
at the Maramor that she is the best available. She has had all experience that is necessary, and gave up her place in Columbus
because she recognized the opportunity that will grow out of the
given up his position to fill the
need of a caretaker and manager
at the house.

Golfers in Columbus and even
smaller towns are beginning to become acquainted with the local
hundreds will be driving here on Sundays and holidays to play golf.
They are learning that the course
is not crowded and it is gaining
a fine reputation in the state.

To accommodate these visitors,
the club must have some place for them to eat if they are to spend the day here. Green fees
and meals for strangers are two
country club. With Mrs. Morris
in charge, from now on, the club
will have a fine start toward establishing a reputation for the
next season.

Mr. Morris will look after the
serving of cold drinks at the
counter. The couple will arrive
Monday, Aug. 26, to take up their
duties. Orders will be taken at once for lunches and dinners on Labor Day, and meals and sand-

Circleville Merchants vs Coca Cola at the Utilities Park.
Ohio Utilities vs Motor Transport at Mason's Park.

By defeating the C. A. C. Wednesday evening by the score of 10 to 7, the Pettit Tires moved into fifth place, throwing the Brotherhood into sixth place.

Everyone thought that this game would be a complete run-away for the Tires, until the fifth inning when the club team scored a run. Pickens pitched for the club and Wallace for the Tires. Many beautiful catches were made in the outfield, especially by the Tires.

The C. A. C. once thought to be the sole contender for the baseball championship, is slowly fading away into the distance and are hovering around third place and are apparently enroute to the cellar. The main contenders for the pennant now are the Coca Cola and Ohio Utilities teams who will from now on, stage a real battle to get the pennant. Line-up and summary:

WARD'S TEN WINS

"We shall have revenge," said Ward's Ten under the command of Doggy Ward when he marched his players on the field Wednesday evening, and according to spectators at the game they got revenge. The Lutheran Brotherhood received quite a shock Wednesday evening, when to their great surprise they learned that the team they had defeated two or three times had now defeated them by the close score of 7 to 6. This team happening to be Ward's Ten, a team that has been losing every game played. The deputy's team did something Wednesday evening that has never been done and probably will never be done again during the season. They staged the first triple play of the season.

The game was well played and very close as for some time the Brotherhood led by the score of 6 to 1. But in the sixth inning the deputy's team scored five runs, tying the score 6 to 6. In the ninth inning Ward's team scored another run which won the game.

WINS RAJAH'S PRAISE

Woody English, Cub shortstop, has been playing a spectacular fielding game lately, so much so that the great Rajah Hornsby predicts that he will be the greatest shortstop in the game in a year or two. English came from Toledo in 1926, but didn't make his bow as a Cub until the Spring of 1927.

TITLE BATTLE IS ON TONIGHT

Ferguson and Wells Will Battle For Featherweight Crown of County.

Thursday night fans will witness a real championship bout at Scippo Park between Lundy Ferguson and Jackie Wells, if rain does not interfere. Both of these boys are snappers and are known to be good sports, always putting up a pleasing scrap. Tonight one of them is going to make himself the amateur featherweight champion of Pickaway-co, so fans are looking forward to quite a bit of action when they meet.

In the semi-final two battles are scheduled to go in a real bit of fast snappy action. These boys, Eddie Kid Wagner and K. O. Hill, are out for blood and if these boys are as earnest to fight as they seem to be, there's going to be plenty of fireworks in the arena tonight.

The second prelim also promises to be a golgetter for when such fellows as Bud Morgan of Lancaster and Eddie Lang of Portsmouth meet, there is no doubt plenty of gloves will fly as well as blood. Both are out to spoil one

When the late Sir Edmund Gosse, whose valuable collection of 122 fish plays of the Restoration period was so well known among scholars once was searching the shelves of a Soho bookshop he found a stack of old plays, of which the book seller was anxious to get rid.

"There were," said Gosse, "treasures lying in that ignominious heap, and if I had only had in my pocket what a single one of those plays would fetch today, I might have got a good deal of money. There were things lying there, in all the 50 years since, I have never cast my eyes on again. I emptied my poor purse, however, to its utmost penny."—Detroit News.

Ancient Brooch Found

Workmen quarrying at time kilns at Creenaght, Ireland, found an ancient Irish brooch in a crevice of soft rock two feet below the surface of the ground. Dating from the Seventh century, it is of bronze, and consists of the ring and a pin, the back of the pin being coated with enamel of a light green color and the front of the pin of dark green enamel.

Fans Asked For Help In Picking Star Ball Team

An All-Recreation baseball team will be picked at the end of the season, by The Herald sports writer and two other attentive baseball fans. In order to let the fans at large have a hand in the selecting of a team, it is asked that they submit a player for each position, namely: pitcher, catcher, first base, second base, third base, two short stops, right field, left field and center field, and send it to The Herald, care the Sports-writer.

You may see one member of your picked team on the all-Recreation team. A second team will also be picked. Please mail your selections not later than Aug. 27. If any fan thinks for any reason that a certain man should be on this team it is up to him to help put him there.

Bill Lyons of Lancaster, attended the Rotary meeting at the Boggs Hotel Thursday noon.

GAMES TONIGHT
Ohio Utilities vs Motor Transport at Mason's Park.

By defeating the C. A. C. Wednesday evening by the score of 10 to 7, the Pettit Tires moved into fifth place, throwing the Brotherhood into sixth place.

Everyone thought that this game would be a complete run-away for the Tires, until the fifth inning when the club team scored a run. Pickens pitched for the club and Wallace for the Tires. Many beautiful catches were made in the outfield, especially by the Tires.

The C. A. C. once thought to be the sole contender for the baseball championship, is slowly fading away into the distance and are hovering around third place and are apparently enroute to the cellar. The main contenders for the pennant now are the Coca Cola and Ohio Utilities teams who will from now on, stage a real battle to get the pennant. Line-up and summary:

WARD'S TEN WINS

"We shall have revenge," said Ward's Ten under the command of Doggy Ward when he marched his players on the field Wednesday evening, and according to spectators at the game they got revenge. The Lutheran Brotherhood received quite a shock Wednesday evening, when to their great surprise they learned that the team they had defeated two or three times had now defeated them by the close score of 7 to 6. This team happening to be Ward's Ten, a team that has been losing every game played. The deputy's team did something Wednesday evening that has never been done and probably will never be done again during the season. They staged the first triple play of the season.

The game was well played and very close as for some time the Brotherhood led by the score of 6 to 1. But in the sixth inning the deputy's team scored five runs, tying the score 6 to 6. In the ninth inning Ward's team scored another run which won the game.

WINS RAJAH'S PRAISE

Woody English, Cub shortstop, has been playing a spectacular fielding game lately, so much so that the great Rajah Hornsby predicts that he will be the greatest shortstop in the game in a year or two. English came from Toledo in 1926, but didn't make his bow as a Cub until the Spring of 1927.

TITLE BATTLE IS ON TONIGHT

Ferguson and Wells Will Battle For Featherweight Crown of County.

Thursday night fans will witness a real championship bout at Scippo Park between Lundy Ferguson and Jackie Wells, if rain does not interfere. Both of these boys are snappers and are known to be good sports, always putting up a pleasing scrap. Tonight one of them is going to make himself the amateur featherweight champion of Pickaway-co, so fans are looking forward to quite a bit of action when they meet.

In the semi-final two battles are scheduled to go in a real bit of fast snappy action. These boys, Eddie Kid Wagner and K. O. Hill, are out for blood and if these boys are as earnest to fight as they seem to be, there's going to be plenty of fireworks in the arena tonight.

The second prelim also promises to be a gogetter for when such fellows as Bud Morgan of Lancaster and Eddie Lang of Portsmouth meet, there is no doubt plenty of gloves will fly as well as blood. Both are out to spoil one

When the late Sir Edmund Gosse, whose valuable collection of English plays of the Restoration period was so well known among scholars, once was searching the shelves of a Soho bookshop he found a stack of old plays, of which the book-seller was anxious to get rid.

"There were," said Gosse, "treasures lying in that ignominious heap, and if I had only had in my pocket what a single one of those plays would fetch today, I might have got off laden with spoil. There were things lying there. In all the 50 years since, I have not cast my eyes on again. I emptied my poor purse, however, to its utmost penny."—Detroit News.

Ancient Brooch Found

Workmen quarrying at time kilns at Creeganah, Ireland, found an ancient Irish brooch in a cavity of soft rock two feet below the surface of the ground. Dating from the Seventh century, it is of bronze, and consists of the ring and a pin, the back of the pin being coated with enamel of a light green color and the front of the pin of dark green enamel.

Fans Asked For Help In Picking Star Ball Team

An All-Recreation baseball team will be picked at the end of the season, by The Herald sports writer and two other attentive baseball fans. In order to let the fans at large have a hand in the selecting of a team, it is asked that they submit a player for each position, namely: pitcher, catcher, first base, second base, third base, two short stops, right field, left field and center field, and send it to The Herald, care the Sports-writer.

You may see one member of your picked team on the all-Recreation team. A second team will also be picked. Please mail your selections not later than Aug. 27. If any fan thinks for any reason that a certain man should be on this team. It is up to him to help put him there.

Bill Lyons of Lancaster, attended the Rotary meeting at the Boggs Hotel Thursday noon.

CHINA'S NEW WOMAN
C. P. O. Box No. 1234.
Shanghai, China, July 11.
Dear Editor:—

If a woman in China, 20 years ago, had been given a Rip Van Winkle sleep, she would be more surprised than he was, should she awake today. Then women had to stay indoors and work something like domestic animals. Or, if a better family, be cooped up at home and stay there. She was allowed to be seen only by her husband or brothers.
Now what a change! The modern Chinese young women skip around the streets with a spring, grace and freedom that's quite refreshing when one remembers the women formerly hobbling along on bound feet supported by amahs. Now girls bob, shingle, or permanent wave their hair. That's a sign of freedom! They ride bicycles, play tennis, basketball and engage in other athletics. Formerly the parents arranged their marriage. Now one often sees the young ladies walking very affectionately arm in arm with their "best boys," and the young people often do the arranging. The dress used to be the most modest of any nationality. Now women are often seen with short sleeves and very low-necked frocks even at mid-day. Sometimes they're seen with the most up-to-date up-beyond - they knee short frocks and flimsy silk hose and very high-heeled shoes. Indeed the Chinese girls are quite amusing flappers sometimes — shocking sometimes — so much that the officials have felt it necessary to issue proclamations commanding them to dress modestly. The girls have even learned to flirt in the most up-to-date way. That's freedom! They dance in the latest style. They ride horses, astride, with boots and riding breeches. "That's English, you know."

Once the ideal for girls was that they be able to do beautiful needle work at home. Now they are doing other things. They are clerks in stores. Some are typists and stenographers. Some are bankers. They play the organ or piano or other musical instruments. Some are becoming movie artists or actresses. Some are lawyers and judges and doctors, are teachers and kindergartners. They even become soldiers and sometimes they become generals' secretaries! Women also became street-corn politicians and scream the Revolutionary platitudes such as: "Down with imperialism," "Give the people freedom," to beat the most zealous men Revolutionaries. Rarely do you see meetings for propaganda or riots without seeing girls or women taking active part in them, urging on the riots. I am glad to say that some few of them are taking part in the Red Cross work in relieving the suffering of those wounded in battle. Women, too, occupy places of influence in the government in Nanking. Once women's faces lacked all hope and ambition, and there are still great hosts of women who are the same drudges at home or worse—in great factories. But among the younger generation they have ambition—ambition that carries them to extremes.

I'm glad to say that there are many modest, motherly women who have gone through our mission schools who are making nice, clean, beautiful Christian homes where the children are brought up well and taught to be good useful members of society, children of whom they and missions can be proud and thankful. One can not expect great things from nation in which the people have been brought up for ages in filth, physical and moral; but a new generation is coming on, born anew in the church of Christ and in these clean Christian homes. We are expecting much for China from such. Things are out of joint in China; but we hope and pray that the common sense of better Chinese and the deeply planted power of the Gospel will gradually overcome the criminal influences and that China will find peace, prosperity and a place among the great nations of the world.
Yours in Christ's glad service.
(Rev.) H. G. C. Hallock.

Stomach Trouble and Neuritis Yield Quickly To Amazing Powers of Master Medicine.

MRS. CECILIA GUTHMAN.

"Konjola is worth its weight in gold to me," said Mrs. Cecelia Guthman, 1636 South Parsons Avenue, Columbus, Ohio. "An automobile accident two years ago left me a physical wreck. My nerves were shot to pieces, and my food refused to digest as it should. A heavy feeling in the pit of my stomach, gas and belching spells never gave me any rest. Medicine after medicine failed to help me, and I was discouraged.
Finally I tried Konjola, and now glad I am that I did! I eat things that I didn't dare touch before. My nerves are steady and very ache and pain has been washed from my body. I feel better than for many years. Five bottles of Konjola did all of this. Konjola is a wonderful medicine, and more than pleased to endorse to all who suffer as I did."
Konjola is sold in Circleville at Hamilton & Ryan's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

CHINA'S NEW WOMAN
C. P. O. Box No. 1234.
Shanghai, China, July 11.

Dear Editor:—

If a woman in China, 20 years ago, had been given a Rip Van Winkle sleep, she would be more surprised than he was, should she awake today. Then women had to stay indoors and work something like domestic animals. Or, if a better family, be cooped up at home and stay there. She was allowed to be seen only by her husband or brothers.

Now what a change! The modern Chinese young women skip around the streets with a spring, grace and freedom that's quite refreshing when one remembers the women formerly hobbling along on bound feet supported by amahs. Now girls bob, shingle, or permanent wave their hair. That's a sign of freedom! They ride bicycles, play tennis, basketball and engage in other athletics. Formerly the parents arranged their marriage. Now one often sees the young ladies walking very affectionately arm in arm with their "best boys," and the young people often do the arranging. The dress used to be the most modest of any nationality. Now women are often seen with short sleeves and very low-necked frocks even at mid-day. Sometimes they're seen with the most up-to-date up-beyond-the-knee short frocks and flimsy silk hose and very high-heeled shoes. Indeed the Chinese girls are quite amusing flappers sometimes—shocking sometimes—so much that the officials have felt it necessary to issue proclamations commanding them to dress modestly. The girls have even learned to flirt in the most-up-to-date way. That's freedom! They dance in the latest style. They ride horses, astride, with boots and riding breeches. "That's English, you know."

Once the ideal for girls was that they be able to do beautiful needle work at home. Now they are doing other things. They are clerks in stores. Some are typists and stenographers. Some are bankers. They play the organ or piano or other musical instruments. Some are becoming movie artists or actresses. Some are lawyers and judges and doctors, are teachers and kindergartners. They even become soldiers and sometimes they become generals' secretaries! Women also became street-corner politicians and scream the Revolutionary platitudes such as, "Down with imperialism," "Give the people freedom," to beat the most zealous men Revolutionaries. Rarely do you see meetings for propaganda or riots without seeing girls or women taking active part in them, urging on the riots. I am glad to say that some few of them are taking part in the Red Cross

Stomach Trouble and Neuritis Yield Quickly To Amazing Powers of Master Medicine.

"Konjola is worth its weight in gold to me," said Mrs. Cecelia Guthman, 1636 South Parsons Avenue, Columbus, Ohio. "An automobile accident two years ago left me a physical wreck. My nerves were shot to pieces, and my food refused to digest as it should. A heavy feeling in the pit of my stomach, gas and belching spells never gave me any rest. Medicine after medicine failed to help me, and I was discouraged. "Finally I tried Konjola, and how glad I am that I did! I eat things that I didn't dare touch before. My nerves are steady and every ache and pain has been swept from my body. I feel better than for many years. Five bottles of Konjola did all of this! Konjola is a wonderful medicine. I am more than pleased to endorse it to all who suffer as I did!"

work in relieving the suffering of those wounded in battle. Women, too, occupy places of influence in the government in Nanking. Once women's faces lacked all hope and ambition, and there are still great hosts of women who are the same drudges at home or—worse—in great factories. But among the younger generation they have ambition—ambition that carries them to extremes.

I'm glad to say that there are many modest, motherly women who have gone through our mission schools who are making nice, clean, beautiful Christian homes where the children are brought up well and taught to be good useful members of society, children of whom they and missions can be proud and thankful. One can not expect great things from nation in which the people have been brought up for ages in filth, physical and moral; but a new generation is coming on, born anew in the church of Christ and in these clean Christian homes. We are expecting much for China from such.

Things are out of joint in China; but we hope and pray that the common sense of better Chinese and the deeply planted power of the Gospel will gradually overcome the criminal influences and that China will find peace, prosperity and a place among the great nations of the world.

THE MOST LAWLESS NATION

In a recent address, Secretary of War Good, called the United States the most lawless nation on earth. Similar statements are often made, and there is too much truth in them. Perhaps it could not be said that we are as lawless as primitive and half savage tribes, but there appears to be more crime and reckless disregard of law than prevails in most European countries.

It seems a very singular thing that the country that has done the most to make its citizens reverence and respect the law, should be the one where the citizens respect the law the least. No nation has made so much effort as we have to make these laws fair and just and equal and such that everyone has a fair chance.

Human nature is about the same the world over, and the people of European lands would like to rebel against many of the laws that irritate them. But over there public sentiment seems to demand and obtain a more prompt and determined action against law-breakers.

Here our people take many of the laws humorously. Take the automobile law. A large part of the people of Ohio anyway, regard it as a praiseworthy exploit and one indicating considerable spirit and originality. If they can blow through a town in their cars disregarding the regulations it has made for the public safety. In the countries of Europe public sentiment would be disgusted by such exhibitions of recklessness, and the officers would be sustained by common feeling in taking drastic action against such people.

Laws of course need to be rational, or the movement to break them down defies and overwhelms the effort to enforce them. But we need to realize as a nation that our success in maintaining good government depends upon a good system of well enforced laws. When the laws become a joke then our liberties and our rights also become a dream.

EX-PRESIDENTS' LIFE SENATORS

A constitutional amendment is to be offered to the new session of Congress, which would permit former presidents of the United States to officiate as ex-officio members of the senate for life. The experience of these men would be valuable in many ways. They know what the difficulties in the way of successful legislation are. Sentiment at present, however, is not keen for passing amendments to our constitution. It is a magnificent instrument just as it is, and our forefathers who framed it, had a marvelous insight into the principles on which a successful democratic government could be run. It is difficult to improve on it, though changes will be made from time to time. Still it may be better to let it stand and pressing needs for action develop before tinkering with its great charter of our freedom with any more amendments.

Jungle Monarchs Less Ferocity in Daylight

Many of the fiercest animals in the jungle are less ferocious in daylight than at night. A lion, for example, will attack a man at night, but in daylight he will usually retreat. This is because the lion's eyes are not as good as his night vision. He can see better in the dark, and he is more likely to attack a man at night. This is also true of many other animals in the jungle. They are more ferocious at night than in daylight.

A Friendly Fair Is U. S. F. Slogan

Care Delays Talk To Eliminate Discomfort and Confusion At Coming Exposition.

UNABLE as the annual fair, the Ohio State Fair is 75 years old this year. It has shown growth in keeping with the development of the Mother State. It takes the comprehension to even attempt to picture the difference between the conditions of the early days and the present. The fair is a thing of the past, and we are now making more than the reality made more than a century ago at the Ohio State Fair.

The State owned fair grounds comprise a beautiful park of over 115 acres. There are 25 permanent buildings. Grounds and equipment are well equipped for the million dollars. Add to this the value of exhibits and equipment on the grounds at fair time. It may well be said to be a hundred million dollars' worth of entertainment and range of entertainment any exposition held in the country.

Strikes Note of Peace The Ohio State Fair strikes a note of peace, prosperity and progress. It is Ohio at her best. It is the home land on parade. Farmers, manufacturers, artists and scientists bring to the common meeting ground the finest products of their culture, and we look through over with wonder and pride. The Ohio State Fair is an idealized cross section of Ohio. Here one develops new pride of commonwealth, and learning why the Buckeye State is such a bright star in the national firmament. "There is no common impulse and one purpose with all of us—to give Ohio a fair in keeping with its traditions and to guard against sacrificing and waste to ballyhoo. We want the Ohio State Fair to be the happiest place in America during the week of August 26 to 31," says Perry L. Green, Director of Agriculture.

"Who attend will have a decided advantage over those who think they can not take the time, because the exhibits are such that you will go home with sound lasting impressions of better living and better ways of doing things."

A Friendly Fair "Another of our purposes is to make a friendly, helpful, comfortable atmosphere at the Fair. Exhibitors and visitors will be kindly treated. No efforts are being spared to provide comfort, lack of confusion and congestion, and make every effort to find the things you want to see. There will be courteous, experienced Columbus policemen to guide traffic and furnish protection on the grounds. Squads of bright-faced young men and women located in booths along the main avenues will give information to the visitors. Tickets will be on sale at various points in Columbus, to avoid delay and confusion at the entrance gates. The main entrance on 17th Avenue will be widened, the double gate at 31st Avenue and Clara Street will be opened to avoid machine traffic jams," declares Fair Manager C. D. Tiedeman.

Convenient Camping The Ohio State Fair is a brand new feature. A complete fair camp is being built on a beautiful site, a camping ground located at 7th and Clara Streets. The camp is provided with tents and cots; it is heated. It will have police protection day and night, comfort stations, running water, electric lights, and a lunch stand. The camp is the only place where you can get a good night's sleep and a good meal.

by SAMUEL SPEWACK

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

PHILLIP EDISON is host at a night-club party to his just-recently-divorced wife and Oliver Sewell, sportsman and Don Juan. Edison presumes that Sewell and the divorcee are to be married. When the party breaks up, Edison goes to Sewell's home and while he is waiting his return, is informed Sewell has been found dead. Inspector Marx begins a police investigation. He questions Sewell's Russian valet. The elevator operator is also questioned. He did not see Sewell return. A young medical examiner, with a taste for detective work, assists Marx. Their search of the apartment reveals complete wardrobes for women in different colors. In a safe-deposit box they find a scrap of paper bearing the inscription, "Paid in Full." The following day a Major Preston, who has been a sporting associate of Sewell's, is interrogated. Then Sewell's widow visits the apartment. She intimates that Preston might know something. As the investigators are standing, after Mrs. Sewell's departure, looking at a mirror door, it opens, and Mrs. Edison appears. She relates a story which the police do not believe. After she leaves, her lawyer threatens Marx with political reprisals if the woman is molested. Then Edison visits the apartment. He goes out a shot is heard. The Russian valet is found dead and Edison is arrested. Mary Pennell, whose clothes are found in the apartment, is questioned. She identifies the "Paid in Full" note as her uncle's, the Major's handwriting. A diary belonging to the dead valet is found. It relates a story of the famous Shah diamond which came into his hands in Russia while Sewell was there. Sewell gets possession of the diamond and takes it and the Countess Kurasova to America. The valet follows and enters Sewell's employ. He uncovers evidence of Sewell's relations with the Countess. Also the actions of the many visitors Sewell entertained. Marx and the doctor learn that another man occupied the apartment with Sewell. Mary Pennell receives a mysterious note requesting her to meet the writer at Sewell's apartment if she wishes to clear Edison of all suspicion. As Marx leads her to the door, the secret passage opens and Preston appears. He gives a full account of his dealings with Sewell.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXII.
"YOU should worry!" I said. Then the thought struck me. "Maybe he's beat it with the diamond."
"No," says Sewell, "it ain't that. I'm pretty well convinced he didn't take it."
"Why?"
"Because he was so sore he threatened to murder me. He thinks I took it."
"And you didn't?" The reason I asked was that I didn't trust Sewell any further than I could see him and I put nothing past him.
"On my word of honor," began Sewell. And then I was pretty sure he had taken it. He was just that kind of a fellow.
"All right," I says, "but what's in your mind?"
"This," he says. "Major, you're a pretty brave man. I want to ask you to come and stay with me for a while. I may need your help."
"Well," I said, "I don't see why should."
"My life's in danger!" He got kind of hysterical. "I can't go to no police. I've got to rely on one friend I still left. For God's sake, Major, don't fail me, please."
Since he put it that way, I gave in. I wasn't overfond of Sewell, but I didn't want him murdered. So that night I went up to his apartment.

I ought say at this point about my niece. She doesn't figure in many ways. I know her story, and it's true. She was with a woman, but I told him if he wanted any more he didn't worry about the Russian. If Sewell had any ideas about her, he dropped them quick. He thought more of his own welfare than any woman. Well, I was telling you about the apartment. I got there that night, and had dinner. Sewell had a Russian butler whom I didn't fancy. He was always listening in, it seemed to me. So I was always cautious when I spoke in that apartment, even when I didn't see him around. I've read the diary, and apparently he had just put down what he heard, omitting what his ears couldn't catch. That would account for any discrepancy between my story and his, especially about the receipt.

So—after dinner, we sat around and listened to the radio for awhile, had a few drinks—with good liquor—and had what I consider a right pleasant evening. I've reached the stage in life where I'm not particular about my company. I'm more interested in myself.

Along about midnight, I began to feel sleepy. So I suggested to Sewell I'd like to go to bed, and he said, "I'll give you my room." "Oh, you will, will you?" I said. "Think you're going to be murdered, and you're going to shove me in your bed. Nothing doing." We were quite frank with each other, as you see. But he protested he didn't have any such idea, and said he'd fix me up right in the room. So I went to sleep on the couch.

Having been awakened, I sat up for awhile. I couldn't go to sleep. I walked out into the terrace and got a few breaths of fresh air, watched the automobiles go by, and then I decided I'd better get some sleep.

So back to bed I went. I think I slept another hour. Maybe more, maybe less. I wasn't watching the clock. And again I woke up. I listened carefully. It seemed to me someone was in the room. For the life of me, I couldn't get rid of that idea. I thought I was getting nervous myself. So I didn't put up the lights right away. I just listened. Then I couldn't hear anything. I was about to go to bed again, when I decided—a hunch, I guess—I'd better put up the lights and sort of reassure myself. I did.

It was a few seconds before my eyes grew used to the light. Then I looked around, and almost faintly away. For right there in front of me, sitting in a chair, sat Sewell, facing the mirror. It was a cinch he had been shot. It was a cinch he was dead.

I got my nerve together. I've been in a few jams. And I went over to him and listened to his heart, felt his pulse. He was dead all right.

I ran through the apartment. I was half crazy with fright. There wasn't a soul in sight. Then I heard the house telephone ring. Some one must be coming up.

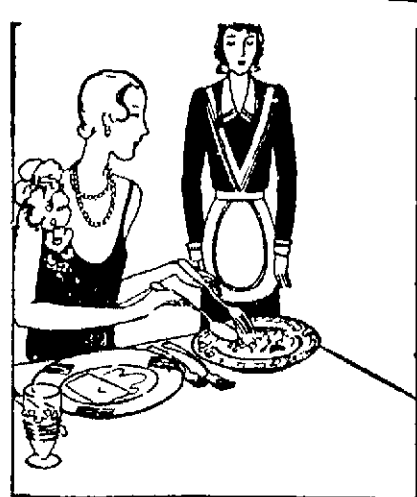

Well—there was only one thing to do. I opened that mirror there, ducked into the corridor, and went into the next apartment. That night I spent there. Early next morning, as soon as it was safe, I went back to the hotel and went up the back way. I figured I might need an alibi. I was in a peculiar position. I was the only one in the room.

The testimony of the elevator boy and the doorman? That's right. I bribed them. I had to. Five thousand apiece it cost me, and five thousand is a lot of money when you're making twenty a week. Oh, I had to figure pretty quick. I had them up here before they knew it. Luckily, like most gamblers, I always carry a lot of cash with me. Never know when you're going to need it in a lively game. And so that accounts for what they told you. The fact is Sewell spent the evening right here with me, right up to midnight, and then we went to sleep.

IT ISN'T DONE

Vegetable serving dishes of sterling silver are so beautiful that one often regrets the dictates of etiquette making it impossible for these dishes to appear as part of the permanent dinner setting. Except at an informal family gathering, without servants, the vegetable dish is never seen on the table. It is passed on the palm of the servant's left hand.

Let the Heart Rule

Sincerity is the very foundation stone of true friendship. It is also a human trait that is hard to perfect, as the sincere friendship comes from the soul of a man, and not from the circulation of blood. Think kindly and friendly thoughts. If you have a heart and soul, why be ashamed of them? Let them into the shop of the mind and your daily life. The hand may be cunning, and the head may be brilliant, but the heart is the most brilliant thought, the most good and worthy impulse comes from the heart. Strengthen your faith in men; think kindly of them; believe that they are your friends, and in the long run they will be.—Exchange.

Outside the house, a man could have been seen climbing down from the second floor balcony with the bride in his arms. But the people in the house did not know about that. They waited and waited.

Others in the cast include Russell Simpson and Alma Bennett. The music is by Hugo Riesenfeld.

MARRIED THREE TIMES

Being married three times does not take the stage fright out of either a bride or a groom.

That statement is attested to by both Charles Rogers and Nancy Carroll, who are playing the roles of Able and his Rosemary in the Paramount production of Anne Nichols' "Abe's Irish Rose," now showing at the Met theatre last time tonight.

During the action, Rogers and Miss Carroll are wedded thrice.

First of all, they elope to the home of a Methodist minister, who pronounces them man and wife.

"When I faced him, even though he is an actor, I was scared to death," Miss Carroll declares.

"And I shook in my boots," spoke up Rogers.

Then came the second ceremony, an elaborate one conducted along the Jewish customs. During that, the cameraman noticed a quaking in the knees of each of the players. The bride was really a blushing one—and the groom blushed, too.

After all this, a third marriage takes place, the wedding being performed by a Catholic priest.

"I was just about ready to go back to the stage after that," the fair Nancy Carroll avers, which statement is backed up by the handsome Rogers.

'THE MOST LAWLESS NATION'

In a recent address, Secretary of War Good, called the United States the most lawless nation on earth. Similar statements are often made, and there is too much truth in them. Perhaps it could not be said that we are as lawless as primitive and half savage tribes, but there appears to be more crime and reckless disregard of law than prevails in most European countries.

It seems a very singular thing that the country that has done the most to make its citizens reverence and respect the law, should be the one where the citizens respect the law the least. No nation has made so much effort as we have to make these laws fair and just and equal, and that everyone has a fair chance.

Human nature is about the same the world over, and the people of European lands would like to rebel against many of the laws that irritate them. But over these public sentiment seems to demand and obtain a more prompt and determined action against law-breakers.

Here our people take many of the laws humorously. Take the automobile law. A large part of the people of Ohio anyway, regard it as a praiseworthy exploit, and one indicating considerable spirit and originality, if they can blow through a town in their cars, disregarding the regulations it has made for the public safety. In the countries of Europe, public sentiment would be disgusted by such exhibitions of recklessness, and the officers would be sustained by common feeling in taking drastic action against such people.

Laws of course need to be rational, or the movement to break them down defies and overwhelms the effort to enforce them. But we need to realize as a nation that our success in maintaining good government depends upon a good system of well enforced laws. When the laws become a joke, then our liberties and our rights also become a dream.

A constitutional amendment is to be offered to the next session of Congress, which would permit former presidents of the United States to officiate as ex-officio members of the senate for life. The experience of these men would be valuable in many ways. They know what the difficulties in the way of successful legislation are.

Sentiment at present, however, is not keen for passing amendments to our constitution. It is a magnificent instrument just as it is, and our forefathers who framed it had a marvelous insight into the principles on which a successful democratic government could be run. It is difficult to improve on it, though changes will be made from time to time. Still, it may be better to wait until great and pressing needs for action develop, before tinkering this great charter of our freedom with any more amendments.

Jungle Monarchs Lose Ferocity in Daylight

Many of the jungle animals bearing reputations for ferocity are exceedingly timid during the day time. A resident of India studying in this country is authority for this statement, and he says that he has repeatedly approached lions or tigers at a distance of 50 yards and instead of attacking him they have slunk away. At night, however, the situation is quite different. These animals seem to be completely emboldened by the dark. Elephants rarely attack a man unless provoked. A native forester riding over one of the paths through a jungle accidentally collided with a cub elephant, whereupon the enraged animal seized the forester and literally tore him to pieces. Ordinarily the elephant will flee at the approach of a human or even if they detect the odor of a human. The elephant's eye is poor, but his sense of smell is marvelously keen.

A Friendly Fair Is U. S. F. Slogan

Care Being Taken To Eliminate Discomfort and Confusion At Coming Exposition.

URABLE as the eternal hills, the Ohio State Fair is 73 years old this year. It has shown growth in keeping with the development of the Mother State. It takes the comprehension to even attempt to picture the difference between the conditions of those early days and the present. This is an astounding age in which we are now living and nowhere is the reality made more tangible than at the Ohio State Fair.

Hundred Acres Park The State owned fair grounds comprise a beautiful park of over 135 acres. There are 25 permanent buildings. Grounds and equipment are worth approximately two million dollars. Add to this the value of exhibits and equipment on the ground at Fair time. It may well be said to be "a hundred million dollar exposition," outclassing in sheer investment and range of entertainment any exposition held in the country.

Strikes Note of Peace The Ohio State Fair strikes a note of peace, prosperity and progress. It is Ohio at her best. It is the home land on parade. Farmers, manufacturers, artists and scientists bring to the common meeting ground the finest products of their calling, and we look them over with wonder and pride. The Ohio State Fair is an idealized cross section of Ohio. Here one develops new pride of commonwealth by learning why the Buckeye State is such a bright star in the national firmament. "There is the common impulse and one purpose with all of us—to give Ohio a fair in keeping with its tenants, and to guard against sacrificing real worth to ballyhoo. We want the Ohio State Fair to be the happiest place in America during the week of August 26 to 31," says Perry L. Green, Director of Agriculture. "You who attend will have a decided advantage over those who think they can not take the time, because the exhibits are such that you will go back home with sound, lasting impressions of better living and better ways of doing things."

A Friendly Fair "Another of our purposes is to create a friendly, helpful, comfortable atmosphere at the Fair. Exhibitors and visitors will be kindly treated. No efforts are being spared to provide comfort, lack of confusion and congestion, and make it easy to find the things you most want to see. There will be courteous, experienced Columbus policemen to guide traffic and furnish protection on the grounds. Squads of bright faced young men are stationed in booths along the named avenues will give information to the visitors. Tickets will be on sale at various points in Columbus, to avoid delay and confusion at the entrance gates. The machine entrance on 17th Avenue will be widened; the double gate at 13th Avenue and Clara Street will be opened to avoid machine traffic jams," declares Fair Manager C. E. Rowland.

Tents For Camping The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation will be host to farm families at a camping ground located at 7th and Clara Streets. The camp is provided with tents and cots if desired. It will have police protection day and night, comfort stations, running water, electric lights, grocery and lunch stand. This enables the whole family to attend the entire week if they like at a nominal cost.

The Junior Fair is a brand new feature. A complete fair within itself, of, for, and by the young people. Here "Flaming Youth" will have their innings. This is the first Junior State Fair in the United States. Ohio blazes the way. The movement will rapidly spread to other states.

Note the wide range of program interests, as given in the newspapers. This year's State Fair from August 25 to 31 promises to be the best in the 73 years of its history.

Something new every minute too big to see in a day. Make it a vacation visit, is Mr. Green's advice.

STATE FAIR NOTES The Boys' and Girls' Club department will be filled to capacity this year.

The old-time dancing and riding will be in charge of the Recreation Department of the Ohio State University, located in the Rural Community Play House at the south side of the grounds. Arrangements in this building will be such that onlookers can see with out stretching their necks or barking their shins. The building will be equipped with a free check room, information booth, ice cold water, recreation rooms, and tables for picnic dinners. The calling contests will be in the morning and the dancing and fiddling contest will be every afternoon.

Gave Name of County The Maryland Historical society says that Anne Arundell county is named after Lady Anne Arundell, daughter of Sir Thomas Arundell. Lord Arundell of Wardour castle, who married Cecil Calvert, second Lord Baltimore and founder of Maryland.

Date Differentiation Samvat is an abbreviation of the Sanskrit word "Samvatsara," which means "year." Samvat is the method of reckoning time used generally in India, save in Bengal. Christian dates are reduced to Samvat by adding 57 to the Christian year.

Making the Grade "And I thought my son, Hank was doing so well, too," said the disappointed parent of the youth who failed to graduate. "The teacher told me only recently that if Hank had only a little more sense he would be a moron."—Pittsford Magazine.

by SAMUEL SPEWACK

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

PHILLIP EDISON is host at a night-club party to his just-recently-divorced wife and Oliver Sewell, sportsman and Don Juan. Edison presumes that Sewell and the divorcee are to be married. When the party breaks up, Edison goes to Sewell's home and, while he is waiting his return, is informed Sewell has been found dead. Inspector Marx begins a police investigation. He questions Sewell's Russian valet. The elevator operator is also questioned. He did not see Sewell return. A young medical examiner, with a taste for detective work, assists Marx. Their search of the apartment reveals complete wardrobes for women in different colors. In a safe-deposit box they find a scrap of paper bearing the inscription, "Paid in Full." The following day a Major Preston, who has been a sporting associate of Sewell's, is interrogated. Then Sewell's widow visits the apartment. She intimates that Preston might know something. As the investigators are standing, after Mrs. Sewell's departure, looking at a mirror door, it opens, and Mrs. Edison appears. She relates a story which the police do not believe. After she leaves, her lawyer threatens Marx with political reprisals if the woman is molested. Then Edison visits the apartment. As he goes out a shot is heard. The Russian valet is found dead and Edison is arrested. Mary Pennell, whose clothes are found in the apartment, is questioned. She identifies the "Paid in Full" note as in her uncle's, the Major's handwriting. A diary belonging to the dead valet is found. It relates a story of the famous Shah diamond which came into his hands in Russia while Sewell was there. Sewell gets possession of the diamond and takes it to the Countess Kurasova to America. The valet follows and enters Sewell's employ. He unearths evidence of Sewell's relations with the Countess. Also the actions of the many visitors Sewell entertained. Marx and the doctor learn that another man occupied the apartment with Sewell. Mary Pennell receives a mysterious note requesting her to meet the writer at Sewell's apartment if she wishes to clear Edison of all suspicion. As Marx leads her to the door, the secret passage opens and Preston appears. He gives a full account of his dealings with Sewell.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXII. "YOU should worry!" I says. Then the thought struck me, "Maybe he's beat it with the diamond." "No," says Sewell, "it ain't that. I'm pretty well convinced he didn't take it." "Why?" "Because he was so sore he threatened to murder me. He thinks I took it."

"And you didn't?" The reason I asked was that I didn't trust Sewell any further than I could see him and I put nothing past him.

"On my word of honor," began Sewell. And then I was pretty sure he had taken it. He was just that kind of a fellow. "All right," I says, "but what's in your mind?"

"Well," I said, "I don't see why I should." "My life's in danger!" He got kind of hysterical. "I can't go to the police. I've got to rely on one friend I've still left. For God's sake, Major, don't fail me in this."

Since he put it that way, I gave in. I wasn't overfond of Sewell, but I didn't want him murdered. So that night I went up to his apartment.

I might say at this point about my niece—she doesn't figure in his in any way. I know her story, and it's true. Sewell was rotten with women, but I told him if he started anything he needn't worry about the Russian. If Sewell had any ideas about her, he dropped them quick. He thought more of his own welfare than any woman.

Well, I was telling you about the apartment. I got there that night, and had dinner. Sewell had a Russian valet whom I didn't fancy. He was always listening in, it seemed to me. So I was always cautious when I spoke in that apartment, even when I didn't see him around. I've read the diary, and apparently he had just put down what he heard, omitting what his ears couldn't catch. That would account for any discrepancy in my story and his, especially along the receipt.

So — after dinner, we sat around and listened to the radio for awhile, had a few drinks — with good liquor — and had what I consider a right pleasant evening. I've reached the stage in life where I'm not particular about my company. I'm more interested in myself.

Along about midnight, I began to feel sleepy. So I suggested to Sewell I'd like to go to bed, and he said: "Oh, give you my room."

"Oh, you will, will you?" I said. "Thank you're going to be murdered, and you're going to show me in your bed. Nothing doing."

We were quite frank with each other, as you see. But he protested he didn't have any such idea, and said he'd fix me up right in his room. So I went to sleep on the couch.

That is, I didn't drop off to sleep right away. I read awhile, and then I dozed the lights, and popped off. Well, I'm a pretty sound sleeper but during the night I heard some one moving around, and I got up, put on the lights and looked around. There wasn't any one in sight. I could hear Sewell breathing in his room. He slept pretty loud.

I felt kind of funny. You know, I didn't take much stock in Sewell's murder story, and I thought that maybe he was just a nervous. He always did have a bad conscience. And he was yellow in a pinch. I knew that from experience.

Having been awakened, I sat up for awhile. I couldn't go to sleep. I walked out on the terrace and got a few breaths of fresh air, watched the automobiles go by, and then I decided I'd better get some sleep.

So back to bed I went. I think I slept another hour. Maybe more, maybe less. I wasn't watching the clock. And again I woke up. I listened carefully. It seemed to me someone was in the room. For the life of me, I couldn't get rid of that idea. I thought I was getting nerved myself. So I didn't put up the lights right away. I just listened. Then I couldn't hear anything. I was about to go to bed again, when I decided — a hunch, I guess — I'd better put up the lights and sort of reassure myself. I did.

It was a few seconds before my eyes grew used to the light. Then I looked around, and I almost fainted away. For right there in front of me, sitting in a chair, sat Sewell, facing the mirror. It was a cinch he had been shot. It was a cinch he was dead.

I got my nerve together. I've been in a few jams. And I went over to him and listened to his heart, felt his pulse. He was dead all right.

I ran through the apartment. I was half crazy with fright. There wasn't a soul in sight. Then I heard the house telephone ring. Some one must be coming up.

Well — there was only one thing to do. I opened that mirror there, ducked into the corridor, and went into the next apartment. That night I spent there. Early next morning, as soon as it was safe, I went back to the hotel and went up the back way. I figured I might need an alibi. I was in a peculiar position. I was the only one in the room.

The testimony of the elevator boy and the doorman? That's right. I bribed them. I had to. Five thousand apiece it cost me, and five thousand is a lot of money what you're making twenty a week. Oh, I had to figure pretty quick. I had them up here before they knew it. Luckily, like most gamblers, I always carry a lot of cash with me. Never know when you're going to get into a lively game. And so that accounts for what they told you. The fact is Sewell spent the evening right here with me, right up to midnight, and then we went to sleep.

Well — I got out all right, and then I decided to lay low. On circumstantial evidence you could send me to the chair, but would I come clean like this if I'd done it? You didn't have anything on me. You know you didn't. For there's the story, and you can make what you want of it."

THE MAJOR'S DILEMMA. MARX listened carefully, making notes as the Major talked. "Now, explain this to me, Major," he said.

"At midnight you and Sewell went to sleep. At 1 o'clock he was at the Club New York, with Mr. and Mrs. Edison."

"That's something I can't figure out unless —"

Let the Heart Rule Sincerity is the very foundation stone of true friendliness. It is also a human trait that is hard to counterfeit, as the sincere friendly impulse comes from the soul of a man and not from the circulating mind. Think kindly and friendly thoughts. If you have a heart and a soul, why be ashamed of them? Bring them into the shop, the office and your daily life. The hand may be cunning, and the head may contain the brain that can conceive the most brilliant thoughts, but every good and worthy impulse comes from the heart. Strengthen your faith in men; think kindly of them; believe that they are your friends, and in the long run they will be — Exchange.

The strains of the wedding march floated through the halls of Mamie Reynold's home. By the flower-decked altar, an elderly bridegroom proudly waited for his bride. The minister stood ready with his prayer book open in his hands. A large congregation of friends and relatives watched the staircase expectantly.

Outside the house, a man could have been seen climbing down from the second floor balcony with the bride in his arms. But the people in the house did not know about that. They waited and waited.

Others in the cast include Russell Simpson and Alma Bennett. The music is by Hugo Riesenfeld.

Being married three times does not take the stage fright out of either a bride or a groom.

That statement is attested to by both Charles Rogers and Nancy Carroll, who are playing the roles of Abie and his Rosemary in the Paramount production of Anne Nichols' "Abie's Irish Rose," now showing at the Met theatre last time tonight.

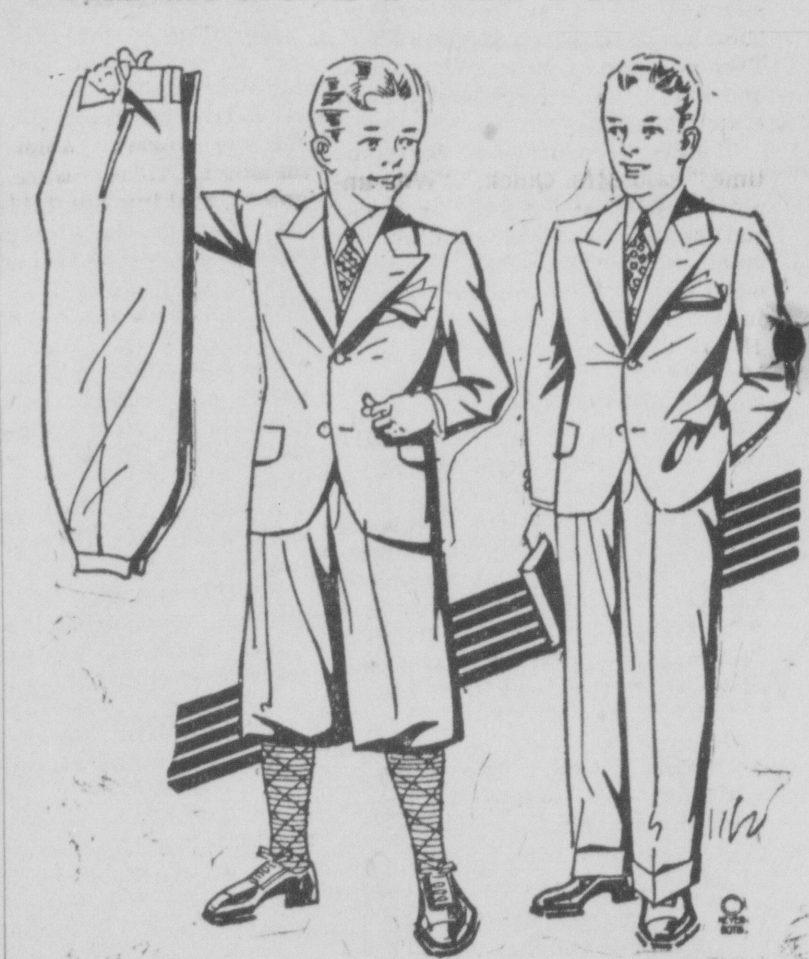

During the action, Rogers and Miss Carroll are wedded thrice. First of all, they elope to the home of a Methodist minister, who pronounces them man and wife.

"When I faced him, even though he is an actor, I was scared to death," Miss Carroll declares. "And I shook in my boots," spoke up Rogers.

Then came the second ceremony, an elaborate one conducted along the Jewish customs. During that, the cameraman noticed a quaking in the knees of each of the players. The bride was really a blushing one—and the groom blushed, too.

After all this, a third marriage takes place, the wedding being performed by a Catholic priest. "I was just about ready to go age and has lived near Chillicothe all her life. She was nervous and unable to sleep at nights. Her stomach was in bad condition and she always felt tired and worn out. Then she found Hoyt's Compound and calls it most wonderful. Her statement follows:

GREATEST MEDICINE EVER IN OHIO

SAYS CHILLICOTHE LADY WHEN TELLING WHAT HOYT'S COMPOUND DID FOR HER.

"I have been nervous for some time," said Mrs. Quick. "Was unable to sleep at nights and was continually troubled with my stomach. I always felt tired and worn out and rheumatism settled in my body. The first bottle of Hoyt's Compound gave me relief. My weight has increased and my stomach is improved very much. Nerves are much better and I now sleep sound all through the night. The rheumatism is entirely removed from my system. I cannot say too much for this great compound. I only hope that those who suffer will just give it a trial as it is by far the MOST WONDERFUL MEDICINE that has ever been introduced in Chillicothe or vicinity."

Hoyt's Compound is sold in Circleville at Wilder's Drug Store. Also by all leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

AN INVITATION

By PERRY L. GREEN, Director of Agriculture.

The Ohio State Fair was born seventy-nine years ago when our grandparents were in the flower of youth. Each succeeding year is has marked progress in true portrayal of the mighty growth of the State—each fair greater than the one before—down to the eve of the mightiest and most wonderful of all, The Ohio State Fair and Exposition of 1929. Progress is never neutral. It cannot in nature stand still. It must move forward, or cease to be progress. In all sincerity, faith and resolution, the management promises Ohio the greatest fair in history this year—a great exposition to which the citizenship of Ohio can point with pride, commend with safety and attend with the assurance of wholesome, clean, educational and thrilling reactions.

Not forgetting that the State Fair must be fundamentally educational, clean, wholesome, awe-inspiring entertainment is provided liberally—new and original free attractions—nationally famed musical offerings—good racing each day—a world of fine attractions for farmers and city dwellers alike, including entire family circles.

Appropriations are being used this year not to add new buildings, but to restore the plant throughout to good condition, comfort, cleanliness and convenience. Everything humanly possible is being done to insure patrons a maximum of enjoyment, facility and safety.

Exhibitors and visitors alike will be heartily welcomed. No effort will be spared, no courtesy denied, to make your visit to the fair a real treat—a promise to which the Board of Agriculture and the Department of Agriculture, from the Director to the humblest of your servants stand willingly committed.

A ribbon won at the Ohio State Fair carries honor and value far beyond the very liberal cash prize involved.

Come with confidence! Make mental note of the dates—August 26 to 31—and plan accordingly.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 15, 1929.

Early Umbrellas Clumsy

The first fashionable sunshades imported into England were luxurious affairs, composed on the outside of bird feathers. During Queen Anne's reign a more practical oiled silk came into use and umbrellas began to be used as much on rainy days as they were under the summer sun. These early English specimens were clumsy affairs made of heavy waxcloth with cane ribs. When wet, the material stuck together and opening or closing them was a job for a superman. It was not until 1852 that Samuel Fox invented the modern type.—Detroit News.

To Identify Genuine Aspirin

THE increasing use of Bayer Aspirin every year is proof that it has no ill effects. It is the accepted antidote for pain. It always helps; it never harms. Quick relief when you're a headache, or cold; or are suffering from neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatic pains yield, too, if you'll only give these tablets a chance. But you want genuine Aspirin, so look for the Bayer Cross on every tablet. The box always bears the name Bayer and the word genuine printed in red.

Now SOHIO ETHYL sets new standards in anti-knock quality

STANDARD OIL (Ohio) is now putting more Ethyl brand of anti-knock compound into Sohio Ethyl Gasoline.

To owners of the high-compression cars of today, this change means added assurance of maximum motor efficiency.

To other drivers it means a definite increase in the advantages afforded by Sohio Ethyl when used in any make or model of car.

This increase in the Ethyl content of Sohio Ethyl gasoline produces a fuel that exceeds official anti-knock standards. It materially strengthens the ability of Sohio Ethyl to do these things:

1. Stop carbon knocks
2. Give smooth, even power
3. Make frequent gear shifting unnecessary
4. Prevent needless wear and tear—help keep motors cool

The sweeping popularity won by Sohio Ethyl Gasoline in its first year attests its unique character. Sohio Ethyl is a remarkable motor fuel—remarkable for its purity, uniformity and volatility. And now we are putting even more Ethyl into Sohio Ethyl—making it a still better motor fuel—but with no increase in price.

Here is a concrete instance of this Ohio Corporation's avowed policy—to provide Ohio motorists the finest motor fuel and lubricants that modern science can produce.

Mr. Will offered a motion which was carried, that the Director of Public Service notify the Water Co. to make these changes, to be done under the direction of the chief of the fire department and safety committee.

Early Umbrellas Clumsy
The first fashionable sunshades imported into England were luxurious affairs, composed on the outside of bird feathers. During Queen Anne's reign a more practical oil silk came into use and umbrellas began to be used as much on rainy days as they were under the summer sun. These early English specimens were clumsy affairs made of heavy waxcloth with cane ribs. When wet, the material stuck together and opening or closing them was a job for a superman. It was not until 1852 that Samuel Fox invented the modern type.—Detroit News.

To Identify Genuine Aspirin

THE increasing use of Bayer Aspirin every year is proof that it has no ill effects. It is the accepted antidote for pain. It always helps; it never harms. Quick relief when you've a headache, or cold; or are suffering from neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatic pains yield, too, if you'll only give these tablets a chance. But you want genuine Aspirin, so look for the Bayer Cross on every tablet. The box always bears the name Bayer and the word genuine printed in red.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Now SOHIO ETHYL sets new standards in anti-knock quality

STANDARD OIL (Ohio) is now putting more Ethyl brand of anti-knock compound into Sohio Ethyl Gasoline.

To owners of the high-compression cars of today, this change means added assurance of maximum motor efficiency.

This increase in the Ethyl content of Sohio Ethyl gasoline produces a fuel that exceeds official anti-knock standards. It materially strengthens the ability of Sohio Ethyl to do these things:

1. Stop carbon knocks
2. Give smooth, even power
3. Make frequent gear shifting unnecessary
4. Prevent needless wear and tear—help keep motors cool

The sweeping popularity won by Sohio Ethyl Gasoline in its first year attests its unique character. Sohio Ethyl is a remarkable motor fuel—remarkable for its purity, uniformity and volatility. And now we are putting even more Ethyl into Sohio Ethyl—making it a still better motor fuel—but with no increase in price.

Here is a concrete instance of this Ohio Corporation's avowed policy—to provide Ohio motorists the finest motor fuel and lubricants that modern science can produce.

Are you getting all your motor's power?

Any automobile motor having a compression ratio of 5 or more to 1 requires Ethyl Gasoline to develop the power and efficiency it was designed to furnish.

Get a copy of this folder at any Standard Oil (Ohio) service station or Sohio dealer's. It tells at a glance whether your car requires Sohio Ethyl.

But remember that stopping the knock—and Ethyl does!—will make any motor smoother, more powerful, more efficient.

"Custard" Joke Old

Custard, it appears, had its place in comedy as far back as the Middle Ages, for it is related that one of the feasts of the lord mayor of London's fool was bound by his office to perform on lord mayor's day was to leap, clothes and all, into a huge bowl of custard. This was considered funny and pleased the lower class of spectators, who never seemed to tire of its yearly repetition. Shakespeare refers to this performance in "All's Well That Ends Well."—Detroit News

EXTEND THE AIDS OF YOUR SUMMER LIFE

Keep Your Healthy Complexion by Getting Into the Open Every Day—Sunlight Lamps. Temperately Used, Supply the Needed Ultra-Violet Rays.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

PRETTY soon vacation time will be but a memory. I trust it will be a happy memory. But what permanent value has it given you?

Of course, everybody has his own idea of what a vacation should be. I am assuming that during yours you had a lot of exercise. You come back with tanned skin and sparkling eyes. If you have been exercising a lot in the open air be sure to keep up this practice. Try to keep the tan by getting into the open every day.

There is quite a fad now for having a tanned skin. There are so many fads that don't appeal to me, I am actually happy when one which I can endorse comes along. In my opinion, the stimulation the skin has received from the increased circulation of the blood, is a good thing. That is what the sun does for you.

When you see a person with a milk and water appearance, a pasty complexion and white lips, you know that the circulation is poor. Expose that skin to regular doses of sunlight and it won't be long before there is better tone in the whole body.

The manufacturers are making wonderful lights to supply ultra-violet rays to the body. These rays give in a few moments what the sun requires hours to accomplish. If properly and temperately used, I regard them as an excellent thing.

Of course the advice I am giving today is not needed by out-of-door workers. They have tanned skins during the whole year. That is one reason why they do not feel the cold as white and bloodless persons do. You must have good circulation to enjoy crisp weather, such as Nature will send us in a couple of months. I suppose some of my farmer friends smile a bit over the suggestions made about out-of-door exercise. But they must bear in mind that thousands upon thousands of the persons who read these articles live in hall bedrooms, in crowded tenements, some of them in rooms where the sun never enters.

Fire-Fighting Relic

The oldest known fire "engine" in England has found a home at the London museum. It is a large oval wooden tub, and water was pumped through an iron pipe in the middle. It rested originally on a carriage with solid wooden wheels, but these have disappeared. The "engine" was made in London in 1678 for a town in Bedfordshire.

Many camels are used in Australia as beasts of burden. For instance from Wyndham in north western Australia the cattle stations are served by camel trains which carry supplies for hundreds of miles into the interior. "The camels are driven by Afghans," says the National Geographic society. "Camel teams are familiar sights in the streets of the little township, hauling in the great wagonloads of firewood from the outlying district. The first camels were brought to Australia for the use of the early explorers. Later a fine type of dramedary was imported for breeding purposes."

Kerosene Shuts Off Air

When kerosene is poured on the top of stagnant water in a pond, it kills the vegetation under the surface because the air supply is cut off. This eventually kills the insects in the water.

Gold Not Only Thing Hoarded by the Miser

No one loves a miser. He does not consider money as a medium of exchange, as a counter in a game but as an end in itself. He delights to hoard it, hold it, gloat over it, but never does he delight to spend. So have I observed men to hoard their virtues, count them, finger them, exalt over them, yet none escape to serve a needy world. By this it does appear men may be misers in other things than gold.

One of the most subtle of all temptations is the tendency to fall down the stairs and the first aid doctor sent her to the hospital where she remained overnight.

The father, not wishing to excite the children when asked where mother was said she had gone to be hairdressed.

Next morning Rev. aged six, said: "Hasn't mother got back yet? Gee she must be getting a permanent!"

Cause of Delay

Mother had gone shopping. The first store she entered she fell down the stairs and the first aid doctor sent her to the hospital where she remained overnight.

There were three tables placed for the enjoyable game of bridge and Miss Lucile Neuding captured the prize for high score. The favor for high score among the guests was awarded to Miss Elizabeth Dunlap. The hostess served a delicious salad course at the card tables after the game.

DELIGHTFUL MEETING OF BRIDGE CLUB

Members of Mrs. Clarence McAbee's bridge club was the gracious hostess Wednesday night to a most enjoyable meeting of her bridge club at her home near Circleville. The evening was delightfully informal with only the members of the club present, and the evening was given entirely to a splendid game of bridge, with progression between the two tables.

With the serving of an elaborate and lovely lunch, Mrs. McAbee was assisted by Mrs. O. L. Cartwright and Mrs. Paul Betz. When the scores for the evening were tallied, it was found that the winners for the evening were Mrs. Cartwright, Mrs. John Goodchild and Mrs. Paul Betz.

Mrs. Charles Owens will entertain this bridge club in two weeks.

Gold Not Only Thing

Hoarded by the Miser

No one loves a miser. He does not consider money as a medium of exchange, as a counter in a game, but as an end in itself. He lights to hoard it, hold it, gloat over it, but never does he delight to spend. So have I observed men to hoard their virtues, count them finger-then, exult over them, yet none escape to serve a needy world. By this it does appear men may be misers in other things than gold.

One of the most subtle of temptations is the tendency to become miserly and covetous of some prized possession. It may be physical strength, it may be beauty, it may be intellectual power or accomplishment. We are so apt to make the possession of these things an end in itself and to forget the more important fact that they have been given to us for a purpose—change.

WOMAN NABBED IN CAPITAL RUM JOINT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—(IN S)—A flourishing speak-easy was put out of business today by the police after operating for months just across the street from the office of the assistant district attorney in charge of liquor prosecutions.

Mrs. Laura E. Hanson, 52, pleaded guilty to possession of 31 half gallons and sundry pints of whiskey.

Mother had gone shopping. The first store she entered she fell down the stairs and the first aid doctor sent her to the hospital where she remained overnight.

The father, not wishing to excite the children when asked where mother was, said she had gone to the hairdresser.

Next morning they, aged six, said: "Hasn't mother got back yet? Gee, she must be getting a permanent!"
